

Indigenous Cultures of North America

ANTH 3320/24802, SOCI 3320/24803, NAIS 4350/24801

This course investigates the cultures of the circumpolar North with an emphasis on social organization, subsistence patterns, traditional ecological knowledge and belief systems. It examines the ways in which the Indigenous peoples have been adapting to the challenges of their social, ecological and political environments in the rapidly changing Arctic. The course explores decolonizing and knowledge coproduction research methodologies

Dr. Olga Lauter
T- TR 9:00-10:20
in Old Main
Room 214

Spring 2026